DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372. This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-8 and 11-16, drawn to a method of assessing the state of Alzheimer's disease.

Group II, claim(s) 9, drawn to a kit comprising polypeptides.

Group III, claim(s) 10, drawn to a kit comprising fragments of at least 5 amino acids.

Examiner's Comment: claim 2, if not amended, will be rejected as reciting narrower and broader limitation in the same claim.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I - III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the special technical feature, polypeptides which are Alzheimer's disease-specific marker polypeptides, linking groups I-III, is disclosed by Nitsch et al., WO 00/25138. Nitsch ('138) teaches polypeptides such as Human cystatin C (MW ~ 13.4 kD) as Alzheimer's disease-specific markers (pg. 33 last paragraph – pg. 37, line 3), thus the special technical feature of the claimed invention is not found to define a contribution over the prior art.

3. A. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. The species are as follows:

All molecular masses as listed in claims 1 and 9.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

B. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. The species are as follows:

All sequence IDs as listed in claim 3.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

C. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1. The species are as follows:

- Human cystatin C;
- Human beta-2-microglobulin;
- Human myoglobin (new variant);
- Neurosecretory protein VGF;
- A fragment of at least 5 amino acids of human cystatin C;
- A fragment of at least 5 amino acids of human beta-2-microglobulin;
- A fragment of at least 5 amino acids of human myoglobin (new variant);
- A fragment of at least 5 amino acids of neurosecretory protein VGF.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

D. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- A fragment of at least 5 amino acids of human cystatin C;
- A fragment of at least 5 amino acids of human beta-2-microglobulin;
- A fragment of at least 5 amino acids of human myoglobin (new variant);
- A fragment of at least 5 amino acids of neurosecretory protein VGF.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

- A. Species of molecular masses found in claims 1 and 9;
  - B. Species of sequence IDs 1-17 found in claim 3;
  - C. Species c-j listed above found in claim 4; and
  - D. Species k-n listed above found in claim 10
5. The following claim(s) are generic: claims 1, 3, 4, 9, and 10.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: no technical features could be identified that form a technical relationship among each of the species stated above.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

6. A telephone call was made to William Gray on 11 February 2009 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
